MISS ELLEN TERRY WEDS MR. CAREW, HER LEADING MAN

MISS ELLEN TERRY as she looks today.

SECRET WEDDING MISS TERRY'S WISH

Actress Feared Being Accused of Using Marriage as Advertisement.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 7.—Positive confirmation that Miss Ellen Terry, the English actress, and James Carew, her leading man, were married in this city on Friday, March 22d, was obtained here this afternoon from Marriage License Clerk George Watson, who issued the license, and from Justice of the Peace George J. Campbell, who performed the ceremony. The marriage was kept secret at the request of Miss Terry, who feared that she would be accused of using her marriage for advertising purposes. It was agreed to say nothing about it until after she sailed for home.

When Carew came to Pittsburgh he hunted up James R. Bell, an attorney, to whom he had a letter from a Chicago lawyer. It was through the influence of Lawyer Bell that the marriage was kept secret and no record of it made at the office of the marriage license clerk.

The bride party was composed of Miss Terry and Mr. Carew, Miss Amy Bell and Benjamin H. Thompson, another Pittsburgh attorney.

Bride Wore $100 Hat.

Miss Terry wore an ordinary street costume when she presented herself at the marriage license office. The day before she had visited a local department store, where she invested $100 in a new hat, which she wore.

Attorney Bell saw to it that the party should reach the marriage license office at a time when there were no other applicants present.

Mr. Carew got through with his part of the questions in short order. He said he was an actor, thirty-six years of age, present residence New York, born in Goshen, Ind., and that he had never been married before. Then the clerk turned to Miss Terry and asked:

“Were you ever married before?”

“Yes, sir.”

“How many times?”

“Good gracious, do I have to answer all that?”

“That is the law in this State,” answered the clerk.

“Well, I have been married twice before. My second husband died. My real name is Ellen Alice Wardell. Wardell having been the name of my last husband. Now, please don't ask me any more.”

“You have a little more,” said the clerk. “You will have to tell what became of your first husband.”

“I divorced him. You see I married him when very young. That marriage was very unhappy and a great mistake.”

“Just one more question,” said the clerk. “How old are you?”

The actress turned smilingly to her prospective husband and asked, “Do I really have to tell that, too?”

“I guess you had better, dear,” he replied.

“I am fifty-nine,” she whispered, “but for goodness sake don't tell any one.”

The party was then taken in charge by Justice Campbell, who conducted them to an anteroom, where he performed the ceremony in the presence of the two attorneys. The couple appeared at the evening performance as usual.

METHODIST WOMEN TO ASSEMBLE HERE

Session Will Begin on Thursday, and Continue Through Next Tuesday.

The Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Church, South, will convene in Centenary Methodist Church, in this city, on Thursday morning.

It is expected that about seventy-five or eighty delegates will be in attendance, coming from all parts of the South, and as far west as Southern California. Arrangements have been made for entertaining the visitors while here, and during their stay a luncheon will be tendered to them by the Richmond organization of ladies in the Methodist churches.

The sessions of the board begin on Thursday night, and will continue through the following Tuesday. Except where special speakers are invited, the sessions will be open to ladies only, those of all the churches being invited, however.

Rev. W. V. Tudor, D. D., presiding elder of the Richmond District, will deliver the annual sermon on Sunday morning. In the afternoon of that day there will be a mass-meeting for children, and at night brief addresses will be made by several returned missionaries.

On Monday night several new missionaries who expect to go to the foreign field shortly will be consecrated at a farewell service.

HUGUENOTS MAKE APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Religious Indifference Formidable Enemy in France, Director of Society Says.

Owing to inclement weather, the collection at the Huguenot mass-meeting in April was not as large as usual. It has been decided by the board that instead of having an entertainment to make up what is lacking in the amount pledged for the support of their pastor in France, they will ask the friends of the work to make an especial contribution for the purpose.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Halyburton, will be at home, No. 307 West Grace Street, to receive contributions on the 9th and 10th of May. Contributions can also be sent to her through the mail or left at the Rosemary Library.

A letter from the director of the Central Society says: “The great evil from which we suffer in France—among the mass of the people—is religious indifference.”

“It is our most formidable enemy. Disestablishment has obliged many to abandon this indifference. Religious questions are against discussion, so that it is easier now, perhaps, than at any other time to assemble an audience of people detached from all religion. We have now in France favorable opportunities which perhaps will never again be found. It is urgent that we should make use of them. You, therefore, understand with what power the duty of evangelizing forces itself upon us, how necessary it is that our Evangelistic Society should keep up and develop its work and how ardent is our desire to preserve and increase the sympathies which we have the privilege of possessing in our great country.”

NO MEETING HERE THIS GOOD NIGHT

All a Mistake About the Alleged Shake-Up in State Library.

The statement published to the effect that the State Library Board would meet to-night for the purpose of considering the question of dismissing some of the present employees of the library is erroneous, there having been a misunderstanding on the part of the press concerning the matter.

Hon. Charles V. Meredith, of this city, a member of the board, and of the executive committee, said last night that no call had been issued, and that he did not know when there would be a meeting.

Mr. Meredith also stated that he knew nothing of the alleged discussion of the subject of removal of employees by members of the board, and that the whole matter was new to him.

At any rate there will be no meeting of the board to-night, and no date for the next meeting has been fixed by the executive committee.
